

This SEM image shows a circular electrode, likely made of carbon, positioned on a substrate of randomly oriented carbon nanotubes. The nanotubes appear as a dense network of fine, interwoven fibers. The electrode is a smooth, light-colored disk in the center of the field of view.

27.08.21 / 62415013